

MILK BLOCKADE MAY BE LIFTED SOON IS CLAIM

VIOLENCE IS REPORTED BY AUTHORITIES

Railroad Train Is Halt- ed And Seven Cars Dumped

By Ray Brennan
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago, Jan. 9.—(P)—Predictions that the Chicago milk blockade would be lifted within 12 hours came tonight after violence in the embargo reached a climax in the halting of a railroad train and dumping of seven cars of milk.

Representatives of the farmers and of the Chicago distributors went into conference expected to last throughout the night over a plan of settlement. The proposed agreement provided for a reported price to farmers of $1.85 per hundred pounds of milk, to be paid by all dealers under mandate of the agricultural adjustment act, companion measure of the NRA.

Draft Agreement
It was drafted by officials of the Pure Milk Association, farmers' organization, after violence appeared to be getting out of hand in some sections and both the state and federal governments had engaged in intervention to curtail the strike.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes issued a temporary injunction restraining pure milk officials and members from interfering with operation of two independent dairy companies. The federal court took action because the companies had engaged in interstate commerce. United States marshals were assigned to escort trucks through the pickets from Watertown, Wis.

The state's action was contained in an announcement from Gov. Henry Horner that highway police would prevent further dumping of milk or halting of trucks, and that additional police would be sent to any areas asking them. Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago had appealed to the Governor for action.

The plan proposed by pure milk officials to settle the strike included a "double check" arrangement for maintaining an equitable price to farmers. All dealers would be required to sign contracts to pay the specified price over a period of one year or more.

In addition, all dealers would be licensed under the AAA. The license of any company denying least for the agreed price to farmers would be revoked, and the company, in effect, put out of business.

The strike, with hundreds of farmers participating and highly organized by telephone communication, became so effective today that considerable quantities of milk entered Chicago. There were complaints from parents of small children that they could obtain no milk, but hospitals and other institutions had plentiful supplies.

Some restaurants cut down the amount of cream served with coffee, but all said there was no cause for alarm, that they were receiving quotas from their regular dairy companies.

Burning of a truck on Lakeshore Drive, smashing of windows of cash-and-carry milk depots, and spilling of hundreds of gallons of milk on highways surrounding the city for 100 miles was included in the violence.

An angry mob of farmers halted a Soo line train near Burlington, Wis., boarded it and dumped seven carloads of milk, a total of about 12,000 gallons.

The efficient organization with which the farmers worked to halt the train demonstrated their rapid system of communication.

LIQUOR BILL STILL BEFORE STATE SENATE

Leaders Hope Thirty- Four Votes Will Be Obtained

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(P)—The Illinois State Senate in a night session Tuesday adopted Amendment 204 to the liquor control bill—an amendment intended to bring order out of chaos from a score or more amendments to the previous licensing and control bill—and then promptly adopted some 20 amendments of minor character to Amendment 204. Amendment 204 had as its purpose a complete revision of the House liquor control bill with provisions intended to meet objections of those favoring strict state control and those advocating strict home rule.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(P)—Still hopeful of getting the requisite 34 votes this week for the much-amended liquor control bill, the Illinois Senate today awaited until a night session to consider a new draft of the controversial licensing and regulatory measure.

Amendment No. 204—a complete revision of the House bill attempting to bring order out of the chaos of scores of previous amendments—was noted acted upon at brief sessions this morning and this afternoon.

The plan was for the Senate to adopt No. 204 as a substitute for everything but the enacting clause of the bill that passed the House in January.

Send Telegrams.
Party leaders sent telegrams summoning absent members to Springfield and held to the belief that the Senate could advance the bill to third reading tonight or tomorrow and then pass it the next day.

There were 29 senators in Springfield when the 8:30 p. m. session was opened.

Another cause of the delay, however, was the discovery of new conflicts, inconsistencies and objections to the master amendment, No. 204, which was drafted over the weekend by Dewitt Billman, executive secretary of the legislative reference bureau.

Billman continued to work on the liquor measure, which has been delayed more than a month past the repeal of prohibition while scores of arguments arose over controversial points in the two houses.

Even if the Senate can pass the bill this week, further delays are expected in getting the House to agree on the voluminous Senate changes.

TWENTY CONVICTS HAVE PETITIONED FOR CLEMENCY

Amante Rongetti, Chicago Doctor Wants His Freedom

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(P)—Petitions for executive clemency from twenty inmates of Illinois prisons were heard as the pardon board opened its January session today.

Freedom for Amante Rongetti, Chicago doctor, and Joseph Pursiful, who was sentenced in connection with a Petria kidnapping, was asked by their attorneys.

Rongetti, saved once from the electric chair, twice received a sentence of one to 14 years for manslaughter. He will be released next month from Leavenworth where he is serving a federal sentence for a narcotic law violation.

Pursiful was involved as a go-between in the kidnapping of Dr. J. W. Parker and given a five-year sentence in 1932.

Representative Louie Lewis of Session appeared in behalf of James Davis, Christopher, whose life term for murder has already been commuted to expire in 1951.

Representative Schafer of O'Neill, Alton, appealed for clemency for Mallieu Cravens who shot his four-year-old son and attempted suicide in 1928. Cravens is serving a 20-year sentence in Chester penitentiary.

Appeals were made for Arthur Dovesbach, McHenry county, serving life for murder, and James Fowler, La Salle, who was given a 34-year sentence for murdering his wife.

MAY ATTEMPT TO RECOVER FUNDS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 10.—(P)—Civil action is to be started by the state administration tomorrow in an effort to recover funds allegedly misspent when H. L. Williamson of Springfield was state superintendent of printing.

Williamson was indicted three weeks ago on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state.

Attorney General Otto Kerner announced that a series of suits would be started within a few days against Williamson, J. J. Neiger, assistant attorney general, plans to file the first case tomorrow in circuit court here.

Neiger was not given, but Kerner had previously announced that civil action would be started this month.

R. F. C. WANTS 5 BILLION TO AID BUSINESS

Longer Life And Still Greater Lending Power, Asked

By William L. Beale
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—Loans extending $5,000,000,000 of government credit to help business along the up-curve were listed by the Reconstruction Corporation today in asking Congress for a longer life and still greater lending power.

From one to three years' additional time for making loans to the account of returning prosperity and from half a billion to a billion more dollars to do it with, was the proposition laid before Congress. Without new legislation, the corporation may not make loans after January 22.

No Expansion.
No expansion in the present lending field was contemplated by Chairman Jesse Jones in presenting his request to the Senate banking committee. A suggestion that RFC paper be discountable at Federal Reserve banks was opposed by Senator Glass, (D., Va.), author of the reserve act, but was contained in Steagall's House bill.

Simultaneously with capital developments, the giant financing agency summarized its activities from the date of its first loan on February 2, 1932, to the end of 1933. It showed: $4,959,719,826 in authorizations and $4,964,674,851 in funds actually spent.

$1,031,688,575 of repayments.
$39,015,366 of earnings above interest and expenses.
$337,079,621 of outstanding railway loans supported by $533,995,965 of collateral, but with a $300,000,000 deficiency in collateral securing loans to 14 roads.

The RFC request for funds was accompanied by an assurance from Jones that the corporation's advances during the current fiscal year would not exceed President Roosevelt's budget estimate of $3,969,000,000.

"There will be no change in our loan policy toward industry," Jones told newsmen.

More federal aid was not the only bright spot on the business horizon. The commerce department published statistics showing the industrial production decline which began last July was checked in December. Steel output jumped in the last of 1933.

Exactly how much more money the RFC was to get depended on Congress. Chairman Fletcher of the Senate finance committee said after Jones' testimony he would propose an $850,000,000 increase and a one-year extension in the corporation's 1935 as the deadline.

Stagall of the House banking committee late in the day introduced a measure calling for a three-year extension and $500,000,000 additional capital.

Representative Byrns, the Democratic leader, indicated a three-year extension might be preferred with additional capital ranging between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. The House banking committee will consider the issue tomorrow.

A large slice of any new funds is scheduled for loans to aid bank liquidations. Jones estimated perhaps $500,000,000 could be used this way in addition to existing outstanding authorizations of $589,048,866.

SERGE STAVISKY WAS KILLED BY POLICE, CLAIM

Royalists And Police Battle Near Cham- ber Of Deputies

Paris, Jan. 9.—(P)—Royalists rioted near the chamber of deputies this evening in angry protest against what they alleged to be the part of high-placed officials in the $40,000,000 collapse of the Baring pawnshop and in the death of its founder.

Shouting "down with the thieves! Down with the assassins!" and swinging canes, the irate crowd launched a series of attacks on policemen stationed as guards in the district, ripped up iron tree protectors, broke lamp posts, and blocked traffic over a mile-square area.

Scores of persons, including many women, were taken to police stations, but were released shortly, and hundreds of spectators were massed in the big place De La Concorde to watch the bitter demonstrations which taxed police facilities to the limit.

Inside the parliament halls an air of almost equal tension prevailed.

Face Lobbies.
The reorganized cabinet paced the lobbies, trying to negotiate a truce with angry legislators and hastily patching fences to avert a threatened overthrow.

The lack of sentiment, nevertheless, seemed to be turning in favor of Premier Camille Chautemps after Serge Stavisky, the mysterious captain of underground finance, shot himself—or was shot by secret service men, as the opposition newspapers charged in order to prevent him from telling too much about the pawnshop scandal—when captured yesterday at Chamonix.

The premier, the virtual national chief of police in his capacity as minister of the interior, promised an overhauling of the police department, and his friends expressed confidence that the government would weather the storm of Thursday's debate on the scandal in the chamber.

Stavisky was said by police to have died a comparative pauper.

An autopsy, it was officially announced, established that the promoter was a suicide.

A son was thrown the government's opponents in the chamber with the police elimination of Colonel Minister Albert Dalimier, with a "certificate of good conduct."

M. Dalimier was accused of having helped Stavisky in his alleged swindles by allowing a circular to be quoted advising insurance companies that investments in concerns like the Bayonne pawnshop were legal. Dalimier denied having had dealings with Stavisky.

U. S. SENATE WILL PASS LIQUOR TAX MEASURE TODAY

Bill Carries Levy of Two Dollars a Gallon on All Spirits

Washington, Jan. 9.—(P)—The Senate will set to work on the $2-a-gallon liquor tax bill tomorrow with a view to passage before nightfall.

Chairman Harrison of the finance committee reported the measure today with reduction of the federal license fee on brewers from $1,000 to $100 as the only major amendment to the bill as passed by the House.

Meanwhile the House passed a bill legalizing liquor in the District of Columbia. Debate had brought forth protests against its private licensing system as meaning practically the return of the saloons.

Harrison said that several amendments to the tax bill would be offered, but predicted no important revision would carry. The committee suggested the beer license cut as in line with the theory that occupational and license taxes should be left to the states. Under the proposed reduction, brewers turning out less than 500 barrels a day would pay only $50 tax.

Another proposed revision would make the one-cent stamp tax on each liquor container applicable only to liquor "intended for sale or for use in the manufacture or production of any article intended for sale."

The stamp tax was intended to show that the gallonage tax had been paid. "The stamp provisions," the report said, "do not apply to the possession or buying of distilled spirits unless they are possessed for sale or bought for sale. The provisions, however, do apply to transportation, whether or not for sale."

It will be noted that under this provision the consumer can buy unstamped liquor without subjecting himself to penalty and can, when he has taken it home, possess it without penalty, but is subject to penalty for transporting it from the store to his home.

It will also be noted that under the House bill no penalty attaches to the possession or purchase of unstamped liquor intended by the purchaser for use in the manufacture of articles intended for sale. This was obviously not intended. The amendments of the committee cure these defects.

HOLDS GRAND JURY

Woodstock, Ill., Jan. 9.—(P)—State's Attorney Vincent S. Lumley is holding over the county grand jury for at least a couple of days to be used in case of necessity in the milk strike.

Lumley today issued a statement pleading with strikers to be orderly and warning he would prosecute vigorously any act of property loss or personal injury.

HOUSE MEMBERS WILL SUPPORT FDR'S PROGRAM

Former Senator's Daughter Indicted For Gold Hoarding

Denver, Jan. 9.—(P)—Edith Thomas, daughter of former U. S. Senator Charles Thomas, one of the west's outstanding advocates of bimetalism, was indicted on a charge of gold hoarding by a federal grand jury which reported here this afternoon.

Miss Thomas, 45, is charged with hoarding $3,000 in gold.

She is charged on two counts, one alleging she failed to report her gold holdings to the collector of internal revenue and the other alleging she had the gold in her possession. Both Sept. 18, 1933, in violation of President Roosevelt's executive order.

As defined in the order, the offense is punishable by a maximum fine of $10,000 and a maximum penitentiary sentence of ten years.

PRINCE ALEXIS WILL SAIL FOR JAPAN TODAY

Bride And Bridegroom Are Traveling On Separate Ships

Seattle, Jan. 9.—(P)—A 5,000-mile honeymoon voyage to the Orient with the bride and bridegroom on separate ships and a great stretch of Pacific ocean between them was arranged here today by the subpoena dodging Prince Alexis Mdivani for himself and his sister Barbara Hutton, American heiress.

Alexis announced the plan to newsmen in Seattle after three days of silent maneuvering beyond the reach of a California process server seeking the Prince's appearance in Los Angeles January 15 as a witness in the trial of his brothers, David and Serge Mdivani, charged with grand theft in operation of an oil company.

The prince's bride, who inherited $400,000 from the Woolworth Five-and-Ten Cent Store fortune, remained in San Francisco, where she went Sunday night after Alexis had left her at Reno, Taishan, from the prospect of being subpoenaed away from his scheduled honeymoon tour.

Mdivani announced he would sail for Yokohama aboard the Japanese liner Hikawa Maru, which leaves here tomorrow, and that his bride would leave as scheduled from San Francisco on the liner Taisan Maru, Thursday.

Alexis said he would join his wife in Yokohama.

Alexis admitted the process server was the cause of his temporary separation from his bride. He said he had avoided the California officer because he did not want the honeymoon tour interrupted.

Previously he denied the process server had anything to do with his unscheduled traveling. Arriving in San Francisco, his Princess termed reports of a separation "absurd" and said her husband had left her temporarily because of business.

Commenting on the report of Los Angeles prosecuting authorities that they were anxious to learn the circumstances under which Alexis allegedly deposited $22,000 to the credit of his accused brothers to cover "certain obligations," the Prince said:

"If they had asked me in New York about the money I would have given them all the information I was able to offer, but they waited until I was on my way to the Orient and I didn't propose to be delayed."

In San Francisco the heiress was entertained by a group of social regulars at a round of dinners, teas and parties. James Donahue, her cousin and member of her party, reported she had received a "crank" note warning her against the honeymoon tour and asserting she never would reach China. Donahue stated she often received such messages and paid no attention to them.

HONOLULU FLIGHT WILL START TODAY

San Francisco, Jan. 9.—(P)—A squadron of six giant flying planes arrived over the city at 3 p. m. today after a flight from San Diego. Their journey to Honolulu probably will start on tomorrow.

The plane carrying Admiral David F. Sellers, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, piloted by Lieut. Commander Kneffler McGinnis, came to anchor at Ford Island today. The ruffled waters of Paradise Cove at 4:09 p. m., and the other ships alighted at intervals of a few minutes.

The planes were towed to their anchorages while the aviators boarded the naval tug Gannett.

Navy headquarters here said the 2-150 nautical miles flight to Honolulu might start tomorrow between noon and 2 o'clock as weather conditions over the ocean were reported favorable.

FIRE TUESDAY NIGHT DESTROYS BARN

A vacant barn at the home of Thomas DeFrates, 320 West Walnut street, was destroyed by a fire about 8 o'clock last night. The fire department was called and the fire of hose was used in extinguishing the flames. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Day in Washington

By The Associated Press
Senate investigators heard that Walter F. Brown, postmaster general in the Hoover administration, destroyed official correspondence before leaving office.

President Roosevelt prepared messages to congress on the St. Lawrence waterways treaty and federal guarantee of farm credit bonds.

The Reconstruction Corporation asked congress to extend its lending life three years and add $1,000,000 to its capital.

NRA opened hearings into price increases and alleged profiteering.

The senate finance committee cut the federal brewer's license tax from $1,000 to $100.

President Roosevelt continued the 15 per cent federal pay cut another six months.

Walter J. Cummings agreed to retire as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to accept a Chicago bank.

These two propositions are expected to give Congress plenty to do while it is getting started on the vital appropriation and revenue bills. Congress probably will go forward to Congress tomorrow and upon the words of the president the advocates of the St. Lawrence development are depending hopefully for winning the necessary two-thirds needed for ratification of the treaty with Canada.

During the day the activities of Congress spread out along more than a half dozen tangents.

Standing to the fore in spectacular developments on Capitol Hill was testimony which the Senate committee investigating ocean and air mail received as it resumed its hearings.

James Maher, postoffice department stenographer, told the committee that Walter F. Brown, postmaster general under the Hoover administration, ordered large amounts of his correspondence burned just before he left office.

A few minutes later, Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general under the Coolidge administration, reported to the committee that Brown awarded approximately 5,000 miles of air mail line contracts, extensions of existing lines, without competitive bidding. This was done after Congress had refused to grant Brown such authority, the witness said. Brown, in New York, denied anything illegal had been done or that any official correspondence had been destroyed.

The Senate, under the urging of a Republican, Couzens of Michigan, decided to inquire into three nominations that came from the White House for confirmation. The appointees were William I. Myers, New York governor of the farm credit administration, W. M. W. Spahn of Texas, member of the interstate commerce commission, and George C. Mathews of Wisconsin, federal trade commission member.

The Senate, yet to handle the tax bill, prepared to get the liquor tax levy out of the way when it reported to the House last week. The House, for its part of the liquor program, concentrated today on thrashing out on the floor the question of legalizing liquor in the District of Columbia and possessions of the United States not affected by the repeal referendum concluded last year.

The Senate committee's only amendment to the House measure would reduce from $1,000 to $100 the license tax on brewers. The $2-a-gallon tax on distilled spirits and $5-a-barrel tax on beer were left unchanged.

One of the first formal requests to Congress to check the reform came today when the Reconstruction Finance Corporation asked that its life be extended three more years and that it be given a billion dollars to carry on its work of re-financing the financial structure of banking institutions and other business concerns.

During the day, Representative Vinson, chairman of the House naval committee, introduced a measure designed to give the president power to build up the naval strength of the nation to treaty parity strength. The United States, said Vinson, "is shockingly and dangerously deficient in modern ships."

Indelible Finger Prints

Despite the efforts of criminals to change the contour of their finger tips, they have not lessened the value of fingerprinting as a sure means of identification. "Handsome" Jack Klutas, who was shot and killed in a police trap last week, tried that, but he failed to remove the telltale loops and whorls, and identification was made from his fingerprints. Lieut.
William Jordan, head of the identification bureau of the Kansas City police department, says nature's way of labeling a man cannot be spoiled, unless the very fingers themselves are destroyed.

The operation of changing fingerprints is painful to the criminal. It consists of grafting the skin of one finger to the end of another. If the prints are destroyed, the surgeon must cut deep enough to remove the sweat glands. Then the ends of the fingers become smooth, but they also become dry and crack, which is most painful to the victim. If a criminal destroys his fingerprints, he must pay a heavy price. Surgeons who do such work charge high fees, and physical suffering is an added burden.

Interfering with the processes of nature is a dangerous business. Thus far criminals have not succeeded in putting themselves beyond the pale of the law by mutilating their fingers.
If they do, the mutilation is detected, and officers know at once that the man who had it done wants to avoid recognition. They will therefore double their efforts to find out who he is.

A criminal will endure the pain of altering his fingerprints only when his situation is desperate. That is the case with many criminals just now, and it is little wonder they are trying every contrivance to escape detection. If they are not captured by surprise and try to escape, they are shot down and if they are captured, they know the machinery of justice is moving much faster and more certainly than it used to move. Life for them is no longer a way of luxury and ease between crimes, and they are learning that the way of the transgressor can be made really hard.

The Automobiles of '34

The men who designed the new model cars of 1934 were fancy free and full of daring. The makers are vying with each other for the honor of producing the most picturesque model, as well as the most efficient.
Streamlining is a prevailing style and novelty in body design is everywhere. There are cars that resemble tear drops, snow shoes, icebergs, and even fish. The coloring brings out the design in most cases.

There are cars with knees in their wheels, radios inside, and equipped with every comfort and convenience.
Originality has run riot, and the swarm of new models indicates keen competition for the increased income the country now possesses. The car manufacturers see enough business ahead to justify them in putting out unusual models. That in itself is most encouraging.

The new designs will be easily spotted on the streets, and when people travel down the streets in snow shoes, floating in tear drops, or seated on icebergs, the world will know that the family has a new car and that it is the very latest model. There will be no disguising the fact of returned prosperity.

Art of Washing Windows

The man who washes windows for a living may know his business, but he would smile if his job was referred to as an art. Yet Harry A. Brandon of Kansas City, who has washed windows for 35 years, and from New York to San Francisco, finds a real dignity in the profession.

He washed windows at high altitudes when safety belts were unknown. He survived five falls from various heights, escaping with minor injuries. He believes he is the oldest window washer in the country. To him life has been indeed a "washing," and when he can't see thru them, he knows the reason. He has become an expert at the job of making windows fit to serve their purpose.

Out of his long experience Brandon knows forth the helpful hint that dirty water cleans windows best, and the dirtier it is the better it will clean. That seems strange, but it may be that window cleaning is true to the proverb that it takes a thief to catch a thief. When dirt chases dirt, there is a real cleanup campaign.

Chautauqua's Exit

Chautauqua referred to by the late Theodore Roosevelt as "the most American thing in America," seems to be at the end of the road. Announcement that the mother chautauqua of them all, the Chautauqua Institution of Chautauqua Lake, New York, has gone into the hands of receivers, is added indication that this typically American plan of education and entertainment is about done.
Everyone is sorry; the average person has pleasant memories of hours spent in chautauqua tents, listening to lectures, plays and music; but it seems that the chautauqua has served its purpose. Chautauqua in the future, anywhere, will be few, many targets on the loyalty of a few patrons to keep them going.

The chautauqua, which reached its peak in the 1920s, has been slipping fast. No one liked to discuss the matter too much, for many well-established assemblies were trying to get along. In the last few years these have disappeared so rapidly, however, that there is no longer reliance on the part of anyone in admitting that the day of the chautauqua has passed.

This does not mean that the chautauqua idea will pass completely out of existence at once. There are several strong organizations in this section of the state that still make possible an assembly each summer.
There is the Old Salem chautauqua near Petersburg, with its fine Lincoln traditions, and the White Hall chautauqua, a going concern in the face of the trend of the times. Winona Lake, Indiana, is another place that continues to hold successful chautauquas. Jacksonville discontinued the chautauqua at Nichols park several years ago. Officials deciding that the attraction was no longer financially possible.

Ten years ago a prominent chautauqua official compiled some statistics on the activities of that year. He found that 21 different companies were operating 93 different chautauqua circuits in the United States and Canada. They used 525 tents, employed 5,737 persons, held chautauquas in 8,581 different places and gave a total of 85,885 performances.
They employed 511 lecturers who gave an aggregate of 46,368 lectures. By reports from the various companies it was calculated that 35 million persons attended the "tent universities" that season. And that same year the assembly at Lake Chautauqua, New York, had an attendance of 50,000 and took in $100,000 from admission tickets.

Illinois furnished its share of those 35 million chautauqua patrons. There was scarcely a town of 500 population or more a few years back that did not support a chautauqua lasting from 5 to 7 days. These assemblies in Illinois now are few and far between. Several of the more important companies are operating at that time have gone out of business, or turned their efforts in other directions of the educational, entertainment business. The Redpath and Lincoln circuits at one time supplied hundreds of Illinois towns with high class chautauqua talent. Many of the larger attractions, including nationally known men who appeared on the lecture platforms, were booked independently.

The secret of the popularity of the chautauqua in those days was that they helped satisfy the hunger and thirst for knowledge and entertainment in smaller towns throughout the country. Each summer they took the 9,000 towns and villages a literary,
musical, entertaining, instructive, devotional, inspirational and life-building program.

A number of persons who can speak authoritatively on the rise and fall of the American chautauqua agree on upon two factors as the major reasons for their decline—the radio and the movies. When asked as to a chautauqua in his home town a few years ago a Corn Belt farmer said
"When you come to feel around with a chautauqua when a radio in the house will bring all of those speakers and the music right into the house. I sit and hear the greatest preachers and even the President and King of England. And we can go to the movie here in town any night and see and hear better plays than chautauqua ever brought us, and instead of sitting on a hard plank, we have a stuffed leather seat in the movie."

That back-sliding chautauqua fan no doubt summed up the attitude of thousands of former patrons. At any rate, they stopped going to chautauqua in large numbers and the chautauquas had to stop. The sudden and rapid decline of a favorite institution of less than a dozen years ago must have been induced by something as good or better.

This review of the situation is based on records and is not intended as a discouragement to any communities continuing their assemblies.
Communities that can maintain a chautauqua in these times are exceptional and are to be highly commended. It cannot be done without a strong community spirit and a loyalty to the ideals of the chautauquas of former years.

Still Debt-Striking

The farm debtors' strike hasn't died out yet. At Hartford, S. D., 250 farmers saw the old year out by attending a foreclosure sale and bidding in 900 bushels of corn, 72 tons of hay, straw and fodder, and several loads of wood, for 50 cents, then telling the farmer to keep the stuff. That half dollar doesn't go far to satisfy the judgment for $668.

The creditor's attorneys say they will move to have the sale set aside on grounds of fraud and coercion.
They may succeed. But still it doesn't get them the money.

City debtors are not so class-conscious and co-operative as farmers in little matters like this. Yet foreclosure sales in many cities have been prevented by rioting neighbors and friends of the debtors.

Much has been accomplished for debt relief by the federal loan organizations, and by sympathetic creditors. Yet in most parts of the country people are still being sold out right along.

If employment grows rapidly and prosperity returns within a few months, and if banks return to a normal credit policy, the great bulk of private debt in this country will probably be honored and slowly whittled down by the normal processes, aided by the federal loans. Otherwise we may have a powerful demand for interest reduction and partial cancellation of principal by non-corporate and municipal debt, with the alternative of defaulting on a vast scale.

Fighting For Chanute Field

(Bloomington Pantagraph)
Congressman R. C. Dobbins, representing the Nineteenth Illinois district, has not given up hope of anchoring the government aviation school at Rantoul, in spite of the many and heroic efforts to abandon Chanute field and move its equipment to Dayton.

Mr. Dobbins may believe in the old military axiom that the best defense is an offense, for he has not been content to fight against the dismantling of any of the present structures at Chanute, but he has introduced in the house a bill which would appropriate five million dollars for new and permanent buildings at the Rantoul army air field. Instead of warding off destructive measures for Chanute, Mr. Dobbins is engineering constructive plans. What congress will do to his proposals will be interesting to see.

Some months ago a bad fire wiped out some of the most valuable assets of Chanute field; this gave the proponents of removal a new talking point. But Dobbins notes the prodigality with which money is being spent on other government projects here, there and everywhere, and he thinks it is a good time for government financing for some real improvements at Rantoul. If Dobbins' bill goes through, it will end all talk about abandonment of the field.
Other Illinois congressmen and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce are backing the fight to keep the aviation school in this state.

BARBS

The original manuscript of "The Star-Spanned Banner" was sold for $24,000, but when it comes to singing it, we'll bet the buyer won't know the words, anyway.

We knew it. No sooner do we recognize Russia than President Roosevelt gets the idea of a 25 to 50-year plan for public works.

Ohio State University threatened to expel 10 students for objecting to compulsory military training. The university is quite liberal, though, teaching its students to use their own minds after they get out of school, not before.

John D. Rockefeller may go to Florida anyway, having decided he can afford to spend a few more dimes, now that recovery is on the way.

Will Rogers says:
To the Editor of The Journal-Courier
Riverside, Calif., Jan. 9.—Among the society notes of Rochester, Minn., I see where Dr. Cary Grayson of Washington, D. C., arrived at Mayo's roadhouse. Admiral Grayson was President Wilson's private physician, scare him Charley, but don't hurt him, for he is the best liked man in Washington, the best story teller, raises good horses, and is personal physician to Senator Carter Glass' fighting roosters. President Wilson used his sense of humor when he made Dr. an admiral. Doc had never been on any water bigger than Culeppier creek, and he forded horseback on a possum hunt. You Mayo boys get Doc to tell you about when he and Jesse Jones, of the RFC, got into Buckingham palace with President Wilson, and Jesse took off his shoes in the reception hall and was warning his feet by the kings tireside.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION TO HAVE BOOK ROOM
The Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association will conduct a book exchange in room No. 101 in the David Prince building on Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 18, 19, 22 and 23.
Pupils who will be doing the first semester of seventh grade work may be able to find some good used books at this exchange.
Pupils who will be doing the first semester of the eighth grade work may also find good books here.
Pupils who have good seventh or eighth grade books to sell, may bring them to this exchange. Some parents will be in room No. 101 on Thursday, Jan. 18, Monday, Jan. 22, and Tuesday, Jan. 23, from 8:30 to 9:30 and from 1:00 to 2:00 p. m. and Friday, Jan. 19, from 9 to 12. The surviving these hours books may be secured.

DAN T. CLOUD IS NAMED TO HOLD
WORK SURVEY
Dan T. Cloud, managing officer of the Social Service, has been appointed downstate field supervisor of a survey to determine the possibilities for employment on public works and civil works projects of the deaf and hard of hearing. He is to have ten district field workers, who will make contacts and gather data. The work will get under way this week and must be completed by Feb. 15.
The survey is itself a civil works project, carried on under the direction of the federal commissioner of education. The first part of the work will be the contacting of the deaf to determine their training and the work for which they are best fitted. The final two weeks will be spent in interviewing prospective employers.
Each field worker will be required to make one hundred interviews. The work of the surveyors will be financed by the government. There is a worker appointed to supervise the survey in Chicago, and Mr. Cloud is awaiting definite assignment of his downstate territory.

ROODHOUSE BAND
MUSICIAN GETS
NATIONAL AWARD

Roodhouse, Jan. 9.—Donald Hamilton, director of the Roodhouse School Band, received notification that his band's first clarinet player, Forrest Moulton, was selected as a member of the National Clinic Band, which assembled at the University of Illinois January 3, 4, 5, and 6, on the occasion of the Annual National Band Clinic.
The meeting, which has been established for several years and benefited materially by the late John Philip Sousa, has become a national institution. The instructors and guest conductors are musical figures of national prominence. Forrest is to be complimented upon the step in musical experience presented by this opportunity. Director Don Hamilton and Forrest attended the Clinic in Champaign.

At the city council meeting Monday night it was agreed to put through some CWA projects if possible, and these were placed in the hands of C.
W. Pope to present to the county and state administrative boards for approval. The council took an important step to improve Palm street from one side of the city to the other,
by laying a large sewer pipe or tile,
and surfacing the street by gravel, concrete or other paving as might be approved by the state, the expense of which would be borne by the state and by the city from its share of the gasoline tax. The state is expected to take care of an 18-foot strip, the city completing the shoulders to the curbing. A resolution to the effect was adopted, and copies have been sent to the State Highway Department offices in East St. Louis and Springfield for approval, and if approved the work will start as soon as possible thereafter.

Begin Water Survey

Field Engineer Lowell Reeve, of Roodhouse, and his associate, S. P.
Greene, of Kane, have begun work on a water survey of Greene county. They are employed by the Division of State Water Survey which is undertaking, in connection with CWA work, an engineering study of water resources in each county of the state. Lowell Reeve is a graduate engineer from the Missouri School of Mines, at Rolla, Mo.

Clarkson Infant Dies
The infant son, weighing 104 pounds born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clarkson of Roodhouse, Thursday, died Saturday morning. Brief funeral services were held for the infant at 2 p. m.
Sunday at the home of Mrs. Clarkson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C.
Wann. Rev. A. F. Gregory, of Manchester officiated, and the infant was buried in the Fernwood cemetery, in Roodhouse.

The stockholders of the Roodhouse Bank have met in annual session and re-elected the following board of directors: Hal Gilmore, C. C. VanDoren, H. C. Woelster, C. E. Brazzell, and Guy A. Wolfe. Immediately after adjournment of the stockholders meeting the board met and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows:
President, Hal Gilmore; Vice-President, C. C. VanDoren; Secretary and Cashier, James M. Orr, Assistant Cashier, H. C. Woelster.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cox, of White Hall, and Mrs. Pat Whitehead and son, John,
Mrs. Effie Wells and daughter, home of Mr. and Mrs. Major Gilmore and family.

Mrs. Charles Jones entertained the following guests at dinner Saturday in honor of her mother, Mrs. Alice Porter, of White Hall: Mrs. Mattie North, Mrs. Dora McFarland, Mrs.
Leona Griswold, Mrs. Hattie Giller,
Mrs. Sophronia Rickert, all of White Hall, and Mrs. Walter Giller, of Roodhouse. The occasion was the 81st birthday anniversary of Mrs. Porter.
Games were played in the afternoon.

Miss Lynn Johnson, of Manchester, spent Thursday and Friday in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Charles Barnard and family, in Roodhouse.

CAPPS FACTORY
BEGINS TO HUM
WITH ACTIVITY

The factory of J. Capps & Sons is beginning to hum with activity once more, after being closed for the past three months. Workers assigned to preparing the cloth for the cutters have been busy the past two days, and plans are being made for the manufacture of 1,000 suits for stock. Salesmen, who took the field Saturday immediately after the plans to reopen the factory were completed, are already reporting new orders for merchandise.

The cutters are expected to begin work today. Next the trimmers will be called back to work, and then the first processes in the shops will get under way. It is hoped to have the entire factory going within a week.

When the plant is working to capacity it will turn out about 800 suits per week. Company officials feel encouraged over the prospects for work in view of the orders that are being received. The entire community has much pleased over the reopening of the factory.

PROCESSING TAX
RULINGS GIVEN
BY COLLECTOR

Morgan county farmers and stockmen abreast of the government's various programs will be interested in announcements that have been issued from the office of V. Y. Dallman, collector of internal revenue in this district. The important rulings relating to the processing tax on hogs based on the latest decisions of the department follow:

1. The sale of live hogs is not subject to the processing tax.
2. A farmer or producer who slaughters hogs exclusively for his own use is exempt from processing tax.

3. If an individual or non-producer conducts an establishment where hogs are slaughtered for others, he is not liable for processing tax if such hogs are not slaughtered for the purpose of market, i. e., for sale, barter, or other exchange.

4. An individual or non-producer who slaughters hogs which he purchases for his own use exclusively is exempt from processing tax. It is not necessary for the slaughtering to be done on the premises of the purchaser in order to be entitled to the exemption.

5. If a producer purchases a hog for his own family use and sells a part of said hog, he is exempt from processing tax on the portion that is retained by him for family use; the portion sold is taxable.

6. If a farmer or producer trades small hogs for large hogs, or vice versa, each group being live hogs, no tax accrues.

7. If a slaughtered hog, or portion thereof, is exchanged for merchandise or payment of other obligations, processing tax applies.

8. If an individual or non-producer purchases a live hog from a farmer or producer, and the farmer or producer slaughters the hog for the buyer, and the buyer intends to use it for his own family exclusively and not for market, neither the buyer nor the farmer is liable for processing tax. However, if the farmer or producer who slaughters the hog for the purchaser is operating a slaughterhouse, and the purchaser of the hog intends to sell the hog or any part thereof, instead of using it exclusively for his own family, the person operating the slaughterhouse is liable for processing
tax.

9. If an individual or non-producer buys and slaughters it for his own family use, he is not liable for processing tax. The slaughtering need not be done on his own premises.
However, if he sells all or any portion of the hog, he is liable for the processing tax on the entire live weight of the animal.

10. The farmer or producer is entitled to retain a portion of said animal for his own family use and is only liable for processing tax on the live weight of the portion sold. In order to claim exemption covering the portion retained for his own use, he is required to file a claim on P. T. Form 29. The tax applies only on the portion sold.

11. If an individual or non-producer purchases a hog and employs the proprietor of a meat market to process the hog for his own family use, the proprietor of the meat market would not be liable for the processing tax, inasmuch as the hog is not slaughtered for market. However, if the hog or any part thereof is to be sold, liability for processing tax would attach to the entire live weight of the hog. In this case the proprietor of the meat market would be liable to file a return on P. T. Form 4 and to pay the amount of tax shown to be due.

12. If a farmer or producer purchases a hog and slaughters it for his own consumption, he is not liable for processing tax because he is not slaughtering for market within the meaning of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which creates the exemption.

13. Individuals or producers who donate or give away a slaughtered hog or any portion thereof are not liable for processing tax. Donations or gifts are not considered as sales.

14. A producer or individual who slaughters a hog exclusively for his own family use is exempt from processing tax and no return need be filed on P. T. Form 4.

MINISTERS HERE
TO ATTEND STATE
CONVOCATION

Several Jacksonville ministers are planning to attend the Third Annual Convocation of Illinois Ministers, which will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church of Springfield Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 5 and 6.

Pine Balm—the discovery of a doctor—is a new pine penetrant whose volatile vapors spread like a powerful gas.

It relieves a head cold in a few moments!

It often loosens a chest cold over-night!

For a sore throat, just let a bit of this remarkable preparation melt in the mouth; sprays and gargles cannot compare with this treatment.

You've never had cold protection quite like this.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Here is an entirely new weapon for fighting colds, but you are not asked to try an untried product. Nor to believe any unsupported claims. Pine Balm has been tested by many physicians. On scores of men, women, and children, with various types of colds.

It has been found more direct than internal remedies; far more efficacious than "dosing."

Its action hours quicker than any inert rub.

And safe to use on a baby!

Pine Balm is a doctor's prescription, and a concentrated pine aroma penetrant with the delightful pungency of the pine woods. It's not expensive. A jar costs only a quarter, and very little need be used at a time. Local druggists have all been supplied. Get the name right, and get the right preparation. Ask for Dr. Caldwell's Pine Balm.

JACKSONVILLE MAN'S ROADSTER DESTROYED

Beardstown, Jan. 9.—A roadster, the property of K. A. Watts, of Jacksonville, was ruined Saturday afternoon by fire. The car was burned near the Beardstown Country Club where Mr. Watts, who with his wife and Miss Helen Watts, were returning to Jacksonville after a visit here.

The trio had left Beardstown about 1 o'clock, after visiting at the Watts home, 310 Jackson street, here. It is thought the fire caught shortly after the car left Beardstown, gaining headway until it was discovered by the driver near the Country Club.

Mr. Watts said that he had put a new battery in the car Saturday, but had forgotten to cut down his generator, which had been boosted to charge an old battery. He was of the opinion that this condition caused the fire.

MAN RESISTS POLICE; PAYS FINE IN COURT

Bird Ruyle of Roodhouse was fined $20 and costs in Justice C. S. Smith's court Monday on a charge of resisting an officer, and also $5 for drunkenness. He paid the fines and was released Monday night.

Ruyle was arrested on South Main street by Officers Baker and Strawn, who were forced to use their leather clubs in subduing the prisoner. An automatic revolver was found in the prisoner's pocket, the police record shows.

FIRE ALARM MONDAY NIGHT

The fire department made a run at 10:45 o'clock Monday night to 302 W. College avenue, where a flue burned out without igniting the roof.

A. H. COCHRAN OF JERSEYVILLE TAKEN BY DEATH

Jerseyville, Ill., Jan. 9.—Augustus H. Cochran, aged 68 years, formerly the President of the National Bank of Jerseyville, died at his home on South Street in this city, Sunday afternoon, January 7, at 12:33 o'clock.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Cochran residence Wednesday morning, January 10, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Harold S. Farrill will officiate and interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

The deceased has been in ill health for some time but his condition became worse a few weeks ago. He apparently recovered from this attack but had a relapse on January 1, which resulted in his death.

Cochran was born in Mendham, N. J., the son of Charles M. and Eliza Halsted Cochran. He came to Jerseyville about forty years ago and engaged in the banking business in the employ of the late A. W. Cross, of Jerseyville. He continued to follow this profession being connected with the National Bank of Jerseyville, for many years. He was cashier of that institution, later its vice-president and was president when it failed six years ago.

Mr. Cochran was a member of the Jerseyville Masonic Lodge and an active member of Presbyterian church in this city.

In 1899 the deceased was married to Miss Winona Barr, daughter of the late James A. Barr, prominent pioneer resident of Jersey county.

Surviving Mr. Cochran are his widow, Mrs. Winona Cochran, of Jerseyville; one nephew, Lloyd V. Cochran; two nieces, Mrs. Louis Blessing and Mrs. Charles Orr, and one sister, Miss Rose Cochran, all of Hackettsown, N. J.

Death of Miss Pegues

Miss Gertrude Rose Pegues, nineteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fred Pegues, died at St. John's hospital in Springfield Monday morning, January 8, at seven o'clock.

The deceased has been ill for the past month and for three weeks has been in a patient in the hospital. Death was said to be due to Anemia.

Miss Pegues was born in Jersey county and has spent her life here. She is survived by her parents, George F. and Mary Levene Pegues, of near Jerseyville; three sisters, Mrs. Edward Carroll, of Springfield, Mrs. Lawrence Greeling, of Dow, and Miss Dorothy Pegues, of Jerseyville and one brother, Jerome Pegues, also of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the Church of the Holy Ghost in Jerseyville, Thursday morning, January 11, at 9:30 o'clock. Requiem High Mass will be celebrated with Rev. J. J. Kates, Celebrant. Interment will be in the St. Francis cemetery.

Thieves visited the back porch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Morris, on Barr avenue, early Sunday morning and stole a chicken, two dressed rabbits, some pineapple and a quantity of lard, together with the cooking utensils in which the food had been placed.

The visitors used care in selecting the food and did not disturb other supplies on the porch which evidently didn't appeal to their appetite. The loss was not discovered until Sunday morning when Mrs. Morris began preparation for dinner. Instead of the expected fowl the family found it necessary to eat bacon and like it.

DUNLAP CASE IS TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The appeal of Millard F. Dunlap, former president of the defunct Ayers National Bank of Jacksonville, Ill., from a sentence of two years in federal prison and a fine of $5,000, imposed last October following his conviction on charges of false entry and conspiracy, was taken under advisement by the circuit court of appeals today.

The charges arose from bookkeeping deceptions allegedly practiced to conceal the fact that $30,000 loan, which ultimately was turned over to Oscar Nelson, then state treasurer, was being carried without interest.

W. St. John Wines of Springfield, attorney for Dunlap, based his appeal on pleas of insufficiency of evidence and the introduction of inadmissible evidence.

He charged that the testimony of William G. Goebel of Jacksonville, cashier of the bank who was convicted with Dunlap and placed on three years' probation, had prejudiced the jury, even though it had been stricken from the record insofar as it pertained to Dunlap.

Wines claimed that no conspiracy had been established and therefore no hearsay evidence should have been permitted in the trial before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie.

Marks Alexander of Springfield, assistant U. S. district attorney, contended that the state had produced circumstantial evidence sufficient to establish the alleged conspiracy.

The arguments were made before Circuit Judges Evan A. Evans and Will M. Sparks and District Judge James H. Wilkerson.

MAKE EXCURSIONS TO JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Pupils of the 6-A classes of the Jefferson, Lafayette, Franklin, and Washington schools are to visit the David Prince School on Wednesday morning, Jan. 10. This semi-annual visit which is sponsored by the Student Council of Junior High School, is for the purpose of acquainting the new entering classes with the building, classrooms, and activities of the school.

The students are conducted into the various rooms of the building by the members of the Student Council, who explain to the classes how to get quickly from one classroom to another. Miss Burbridge talks to the visitors about the book lists, the time schedule, and the customs of the school, after which they return to their own building.

Earl Rennot of Litterberry was a Tuesday business caller in Jacksonville.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

VETERAN OFFICER AT BLUFFS DIES SHORT TIME AFTER STROKE

Bluffs, Jan. 9.—David M. Reed, 68, city policeman in Bluffs for 35 years, died suddenly at noon today at his home. A stroke of paralysis was the cause of death.

Mr. Reed had been up and around during the morning. He went home about noon and told his wife he was ill and rapidly grew worse, passing away before the arrival of a physician.

Coroner W. E. Coultas, of Winchester, conducted an inquest. The jury consisted of Oscar Glossop, foreman; John Vortman, Edward Six, Charles Little, Henry Hubert and William Mueller.

Mr. Reed is survived by his wife, two sons, Ben and Monroe Reed, of Hannibal, Mo., and one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Burrus, of Bluffs.

Arrangements for the funeral are not complete.

Roy Robinson of Sinclair called on friends in the city Tuesday.

STRONG, HIGHER

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(P)—Hog trade exhibited considerable strength today in the face of another heavy run following yesterday's heavy receipts. Prices ruled strong to 10 cents higher, largely on the strength of government buying and a broad shipping demand. The extreme top was $3.70 with the bulk of good butchers selling at $3.40 to $3.60. Yesterday's supply of almost 57,000 head was the largest since March, 1932.

Cattle receipts were smaller and better grades of light steers and yearlings were strong to 25 cents higher. Others were around steady. Best 1,000 lb. steers topped at $7, the first time this price had been paid for ordinary receipts in several weeks.

Sheep were steady to higher. Best fed western lambs topped at $8.25 with native lambs selling from $8 down to $7.75. Higher asking prices slowed trade.

NEW YORK STOCK
MARKET ACTIVE

By John L. Cooley

Associated Press Financial Writer.
New York, Jan. 9.—(P)—Stocks improved quickly today. Extreme gains were shaded in the later dealings, but the list, on the basis of the averages, managed to retain a net advance of almost a point. Trading was more active than yesterday, although transfers totaled only 879,932 shares.

Tobacco and communication issues were strong and considerable business was done in rails and motors. The first named group rallied briskly on news of higher cigarette prices, rising 1 to 6 points before profit-taking reduced the range. Apparently a sizeable short interest had been built up in that division.

American Telephone climbed more than 3 points. Western Union, Postal Preferred and International Telephone contributed to the showing of wire company issues, though their final prices were under the highs. Rather isolated strength was noted in other sections, notably the thinly traded Gulf States Steel shares, up 3 or 4 points, and Kansas City Southern Railway equities which rose about 3. J. C. Penney was helped by the $1 extra dividend.

Chrysler's early gain of a point was more than surrendered, but General Motors and Nash firmed. Auburn traded briskly, losing a major fraction net. U. S. Steel Bethlehem, New York Central, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, General Electric, Westinghouse, Du Pont, American Smelting, Case, Seaboard Oil and Consolidated Gas gained fractions to approximately a point on the day.

Aside from the cigarette price increase, the market had little business news to work on and dealings seemed largely of the professional variety. Weakness of U. S. government bonds again featured the investment market.

Last week's freight loadings on railroads thus far reporting indicate improvement over both a week and a year ago and estimates of the probable total place it as much as 50,000 cars over the last week of December. The department of commerce noted that the decline during the latter part of last month was less than seasonal; it interpreted this and other basic indices as indicating that the production decline which started with the collapse of speculative markets in July, 1933, had ended.

JUNIOR CLASS OF WHITE HALL H. S. TO PRESENT PLAY

White Hall, Jan. 9 — The Junior Class play of the White Hall High School gymnasium Monday evening, January 15, at 8 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Hannah Hollenbeck. The title of the play is "What Anne Brought Home" written by Larry Johnson, and a Denison Royalty play. The cast includes Keith Peek as Sam Emmett, a lumber merchant; Rosemary Rohrer as Betty, his wife; Robert Walter as Dudley Purdy; Halle Galt, Anne Bennett; Doris Fenley as Alma Bennett; John Simmons as Herb Hardestad; Margaret Rhodes as Nina Bennett; Warren Roodhouse as Henry K. Bennett; Neal Briscoe as J. T. Raymond.

The between acts will include music, and stunts, including "Three Little Pigs."

The Junior class play is an annual affair and the money is used to banquet the Senior class during the commencement activities in the spring. This year's senior class is the largest in the history of the school and it is hoped that the Juniors will be well supported in their effort.

A series of family night affairs is being inaugurated by Rev. Alfred E. Linfield, pastor of the Methodist church, beginning Wednesday night of this week. He has designated them as Food, Fun and Faith nights. A pot-luck supper will be served in the church at 6:30 followed by a period of fun and recreation, and will be concluded with a talk by the pastor on "The Bible in a Modern Age." An invitation is extended to all ages. There will be something of interest for every one. It is expected to continue these programs as long as the interest will warrant.

MRS. SCHIMMEL WILL SPEAK THURSDAY ON NATIONAL DEFENSE

Mrs. A. W. Schimmel, a chairman of the National Defense department of the D. A. R. will speak upon National Defense at the regular meeting of the Rev. James Caldwell, Chapter, which is to be held at the Chapter House, Thursday afternoon, Miss Katherine Barr has announced that under the general direction of the National organization, the local chapter will study during the year the history, principles and ideals of government, the program authorized by President Roosevelt which embodies the building up of our Navy, Army and Air force, with no purpose of aggression but one to promote security for the United States.

The organization feels that in co-operation with other societies there is a great field for constructive work in practical citizenship and that particular emphasis should be placed upon patriotic education and this should include study of the proceedings of Congress.

Mrs. Schimmel will present interesting issues which are vital in influencing not only our government but the individuals in the nation.

Following this address, Mrs. A. R. Gregory will sing a group of selections, and she will be accompanied by Miss Mary Torney.

SEVERAL SHIPPERS GET TOP FOR HOGS

Several shippers from the Jacksonville rural routes and other Morgan county communities had consignments of hogs on the East St. Louis market Monday. All of these shipments commanded the top price or near it.

Thomas R. Parlier, Jacksonville, sold 12 butcher hogs averaging 284 lbs. for $3.65 cwt; Thomas Garvin, Murfreesboro, 10 hogs averaging 149 lbs. at $3.90; William Doolin, Woodson, 44 hogs averaging 123 at $3.90; C. C. Near, Jacksonville, 24 hogs averaging 187 at $3.90.

SEVIER CONTINUES DUTIES AT SCHOOL

Vol Sevier, vocational instructor in barbering at the Illinois School for the Deaf, was back on the job Tuesday after a one day absence from work. By an announcement of the state civil service commission last week Mr. Sevier was to be replaced at the school, but he was notified to report for work Tuesday.

DR. BEDDOES TO SPEAK AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday evening, January 14, the third of a series of special services will be held at the Central Christian church, in which a representative of some other denomination speaks. The speaker next Sunday evening will be Dr. Arthur Beddoes, pastor of the Congregational church at Beardstown, who will present "This Historical and Doctrinal Position of the Congregational Church." Dr. Beddoes at the conclusion of his address will read "That Something."

A week from Sunday, January 21, Dr. H. H. Peters, State Secretary of Christian churches, will be a guest at the Central Church. In the afternoon at 1:15 o'clock the Christian church pastors, superintendents and their wives of Morgan, Scott and Cass counties will meet at the church for a pot-luck dinner. Dr. Peters will address the gathering.

On Sunday evening, Jan. 21, the annual memorial service will be held at the church with Dr. Pontius delivering the sermon.

ON VISIT IN ALTON
Miss Ruth Rousey of South East street left Tuesday for Alton where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Drennan at the Stratford Hotel, of which Mr. Drennan is manager. From there she will go to Wood River for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roe.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT
© 1933 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOTELING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, but Gypsy intends to keep her job, teaching in a settlement house.

The first night Gypsy and Tom spent in their New York apartment VERA GRAY, an old friend of Tom's, telephoned. Tom asks her to luncheon to meet Gypsy, but Gypsy can't get away from work to go. After a hard day at school she rushes home to learn that Vera is coming to call on them. Vera arrives and the two girls dislike each other on sight. Tom seems relieved when Vera leaves.

Weeks later Lila and Derek return from their honeymoon in Europe.

CHAPTER V

It was Lila's voice on the telephone, sweet, slightly fretful, as always. "Is that you, Gypsy? We got back last week. I'm dying to see you."

Of course, Gypsy didn't take this literally. Lila was given to exaggeration.

"Do come for dinner next week," Lila urged. "How about Tuesday? Is Tuesday free?"

Gypsy, smiling to herself, said that Tuesday would be fine. Lila's air of supposing that Tom and she had a full calendar of engagements amused her. This was Saturday afternoon. Gypsy was glad she'd been at home when Lila called. Dinner at the Bliss's on Tuesday gave her something gay to look forward to. What with watching the budget, and seeing that the bills were paid, the young Weavers had little to spend on amusement.

Then she began to worry about her dress. She didn't want to look "bridey"—that was fatal—but the ivory dress she had worn on her wedding day was the only really formal frock she owned. She took it out, stared at it critically, and decided that, without sleeves, it would do very nicely. She had made it so that the back might easily be cut down to a V, while the front was fashionably high, after that season's mode. Yes, with her last year's red slippers, it would do!

But when she routed out those slippers, they proved sadly disappointing. The last time she had danced in them, an irremediable grease stain had appeared from nowhere on the toe of the left one. Gypsy struggled, with cleaning fluid and chalk, to remove this. But all her efforts only made the spot more stubborn.

"They look awful!" She was ready to weep. It would be the grossest extravagance, she thought, to buy a new pair for Lila's dinner party. Tom, dashing in just then, whistling gayly, found her on the floor of the bedroom, bottles, slippers and rags strewn about, her face woebe-gone.

"What's up?" Gypsy sat back on her heels, pushing back her curly mop. "What's the matter with 'em, honey?" She held out the offending object.

"This one's a mess. I simply can't wear it."

"Well, what's all the excitement? I didn't know we were going places."

Gypsy held up the offending shoe. "I simply can't wear it," she said.

"Lila's home. We're invited to dinner."

"Oh, that. Gosh!"

"You don't want to go?"

He grinned at her. "Of course."

I do. Tell you what, we'll go out now and buy you a new pair."

She said accusingly: "Thomas Weaver, you know rent day comes next week. And your insurance."

He snapped his fingers. "Right you are. Well, what about those ivory dinges you wore with the dress?"

She struck at her forehead. "What a fool I am! I'd clean forgotten my wedding shoes. I can have them dyed."

She would have them dyed green, brilliant green, and wear the little string of jade-colored beads Father had given her on her last birthday.

Tom watched her, smoking idly, as she rummaged through box and drawer, in search of the ivory slippers. She was conscious of his unwelcome silence, and turned to look at him, surprising some new, troubled expression in his eyes.

"What's the matter, darling?"

He squinted through the smoke. "Nothing—only I wish I could give you things. You weren't very bright to marry a poor man, Gypsy. You ought to have luxuries. You're so pretty and so young."

"Will you stop harping on that?"

He was serious, he said. It made him feel ashamed. A pair of scuffed and shabby dancing shoes, molded to the shape of Gypsy's small feet, accused him.

"Darling, what do you think I want out of life?" Gypsy wanted to know, abandoning the search.

"Just money and the things it work and ran his fingers through his hair. "Find 'em, honey?"

She shook her head.

"Well, look, why don't you run over before the shops close and get a pair now. You may not have time Monday . . ."

Gypsy said, stubbornly, that she'd wear the red ones. She did not add what she thought in her heart, they looked simply dreadful and Lila would be sure to notice.

She put on a cheerful face and went out to get supper. But the thought nagged her, as she boiled and skinned shrimp for salad and cut up handfuls of crisp white celery and mixed mayonnaise. This time last year she would have rushed out, quite carelessly, to buy new sandals. She had spent a great deal of her salary on her young and pretty person. But now—well, it was not fair to Tom. And there were so many things they needed for the house. No, the red slippers would just have to do. And if Marko were there—well, it couldn't be helped, that was all!

JUST the same, when she rushed home from work Tuesday evening to bathe and dress her heart rather sank as she stared at the slippers. Her dress was all right. She had worked on it last night. It looked quite in the mode. Trust Gypsy for that. But not even her clever fingers could transform scuffed and soiled dancing shoes into the semblance of new ones. Thank goodness her little black velvet wrap with the white fur ("cat" the twins called it) still looked nice!

She sang in the tub. It was exciting, going to a party. It was fun. She sat wrapped in her blue negligee, as Tom's key grated in the lock.

"I'm running the tub for you, darling!" She stuck the shoes out of sight, under a chair. Better not put them on until the last minute. She just wouldn't think about them until she had to.

He came down the hall and leaned against the doorframe, regarding her. "Gosh, you look pretty!"

The mirror gave back the reflection of a curly-haired girl with wide, soft, eager eyes. Tom came to her and kissed her swiftly.

"Let me see those shoes."

She hunted them out and gave them into his hands. He turned them over curiously.

"Too bad you have to wear them."

Gypsy shrugged. She was a good actress. "Oh, I don't mind. Honesty."

Marko had said, long ago, she remembered: you'll be sorry if you marry a poor man. You like luxury. Well, she'd show him.

Tom was looking at her in a curiously bantering way. "You don't have to, darling," he told her. He was holding something out to her. A box wrapped in green paper. Gypsy unwrapped it. Little gilt sandals lay within. Her size.

"Tom, you shouldn't have . . . !"

There was the insurance. There was the rent. There were these insane, lovely little shoes with the maker's name, an expensive one, stamped inside.

"You're not going to wear shabby shoes," said Tom, "as long as I can get the other kind for you."

She knew he was thinking of Marko.

SAVINGS, LOAN ASSOCIATION IN ANNUAL MEETING

Local Organization Commended For Program, Confidence in Future

With commendation for the past performance of the Jacksonville Savings and Loan Association and confidence in its future, two representatives of the United States Building and Loan League came from Chicago to address the annual shareholders' meeting of the local association at the State Street Presbyterian church last night.

The speakers were A. D. Theobald, director of education and research for the American Savings Building and Loan Institute, the educational department of the League, and Fred T. Greene, director of field service for the League.

"The Jacksonville Savings and Loan Association, like every one of the 10,000 such associations, should be twice as large, or possibly three times as large. It should be in a position to help many more honest, dependable citizens to that supreme objective—home ownership. It should be helping many more through safe, monthly savings to financial independence with all that it implies," said Mr. Theobald.

Mr. Theobald told of several instances where building and loan associations were helping families through grave emergencies, and have assisted typical, dependable American families to home ownership.

Mr. Greene, talking of the building and loan associations throughout the country, emphasized their cooperation with recovery, quoting from the letter Brigadier General Hugh S. Johnson wrote to the President in submitting the NRA code for the industry.

"The Recovery Administrator said that the record of building and loan associations both in extending home mortgage credit, and in the maintenance of high wage scales made pleasant reading at this time," Mr. Greene pointed out. "To the shareholders of the Jacksonville Association I want to repeat the words of the General—

"These institutions are aiding and abetting the recovery program not only through mortgages but by materially assisting in the financing of upkeep and repairs of homes. In 1932 when credit was almost nonexistent, associations made loans of five hundred thirty-three million dollars. A companion achievement is their record in regard to employment and wages. In this instance the top of the pyramid has borne the brunt of retrenchment both in numbers and in reduction of compensation. I can only add that this record should make history for the 10,000,000 savers of the building and loan associations."

"You here in Jacksonville are particularly fortunate in many ways in that you are a young institution. We hear much of the stability of established institutions, which have been needed factors for years to stand for management, but there is much to be said for the young institution. Here in Jacksonville most of the citizens still remember when this institution was started, they retain their original zest for its objectives. They have never lost sight of the fact that here you have an institution with the greatest possible opportunity to benefit the community. It is your job in the coming years to keep your services so constantly before the growing population of this city that succeeding generations need not have the misconception of the high mission of the Jacksonville Savings and Loan Association which you have."

Building and loan as a business has been fortunate in retaining the essential characteristics of the first association in this country whose name took us back 103 years to the year 1831. When President Roosevelt signed the act providing for the government sponsorship of Federal Savings and Loan Associations he placed a pretty apparent stamp of approval upon the building and loan business as represented by its soundly managed institutions such as you own."

Directors re-elected at last night's meeting included C. E. Williamson, T. V. Hopper and Nelson McMurphy. A. B. Applebee was chosen secretary. During Mr. Applebee's brief report for the association he stated that during the past year 27 loans of approximately $29,000 had been made. Dr. H. C. Wolman presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, E. L. Kinney, and Mrs. Ralph Hutchison gave a piano number. Harlan Williamson led in a number of songs preceding the business meeting. There were nearly 50 persons in attendance at the meeting.

Enrollment at Jacksonville high school for the coming semester, beginning Jan. 21, will be approximately 1,000 students, Dr. R. O. Stoops, superintendent of city schools reported at a meeting of the board of education held in the Newton Bateman memorial building last night. Dr. Stoops reported that 74 students were graduating from the junior high and would come into the high school, that none of the present students would drop out of school at the end of the semester, and that approximately 75 children would begin schools in the elementary grades. Seventy-eight students are expected to be graduated from the elementary schools to the David Prince junior high.

Faced with the necessity of providing more teachers to accommodate the greater teaching load, the board of education last night approved the appointment of F. M. McDonald, of Brownstown, Ill., to a position on the faculty. Mr. McDonald, who has been superintendent of schools at Beecher City in Effingham county, taught two classes in the high school last year, and will return to a full time position, teaching four classes in community civics, and at least one class of physiology. He is a graduate of Illinois College, has attended Illinois State Normal, and has completed University of Illinois correspondence work. He has qualified for his master's degree in education.

Dr. Stoops said that the incoming students would fill the class rooms, but that there still was no need to worry about housing facilities. He explained to the board that the high school has been operating under a heavy teacher load, one that exceeds the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools figures. L. T. Oxley, chairman of the teacher's committee, reported that Mr. McDonald had been secured to assist in handling the increased number of students.

Hopes of the school districts throughout the state that the state legislature will pay to the districts back amounts due them from the distributive school fund during the coming year were expressed by Dr. Stoops. The state owes the county about $40,000 and the city school district about $24,000. Demand for payment of part of the money is uniform over the state, Dr. Stoops said.

The health situation throughout the system is good, the superintendent reported. He said, asking the C. W. A. for a school nurse and dental hygienist and told the board that he would report what action was taken on his application.

Work on the athletic field is progressing satisfactorily, Sam Foley, chairman of the building and grounds committee reported. He said that the board has applied for an extension of the C. W. A. project to complete the field, and that the application is now in Chicago for consideration. All grounds and buildings are in good shape, he said.

K. C. LODGEMEN ENTERTAIN AT PARTY AND DANCE

Jacksonville Council No. 868 Knights of Columbus, entertained the members and their lady guests, with a card party and dance, held in the club ballroom, Tuesday.
